Victor L. Romansky Drowns Swimming In Quarry

Son Of Local Couple Dies In 55-Foot Hole

Media, Pa. — Victor Leonard Romansky, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Romansky, 25 Second St., Stroudsburg, was drowned here yesterday while seeking relief from the heat by swimming in waters of a quarry.

Romansky went swimming with friends in Kaolin Quarry, Birmingham Township, Delaware County. His 17-year-old girl companion was rescued, unhurt, as she clung to a 14-foot log.

State police of the Media barracks identified the girl as Joan Weathers, Lima, Pa.

State Trooper Rocco Urella said Romansky and the girl went to the quarry together where they met friends. The girl told him Romansky sank from sight when he let go of the log the two were hanging onto.

Police and rescue squad members recovered the body in 55 feet of water after grappling for nearly two hours.

Romansky had attended Pocono Township High school at Tannersville. He had been working as a painter around the Media section where a brother, Henry, resides.

During World War Two he served with the United States Army.

Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Romansky, and these brothers and sisters: Stanley, East Stroudsburg; Edward, John, Richard, Louis, all of Stroudsburg; Henry, Media; Joseph, New York City; Mrs. Frances Motter, Camden, N. J., and Eleanor Romansky Stroudsburg.

King Leopold Ends Reign

Brussels, Belgium (AP)—Leopold III abdicated as King of the Belgians yesterday still contending his surrender to the Germans in 1940 was only after the Army had "fought valiantly to the extreme limit of its resistance."

Deeply moved, he cast aside the ironic mask he had worn until the last moment, and embraced his 20-year-old son who will be formally proclaimed King Baudouin I today.

The father was deeply tanned, the son pale.

Outside the royal palace a crowd of about 1,000 pro-Leopoldists shouted for Leopold, ignoring the new King, Socialist ministers, who were instrumental in Leopold's downfall, were booed as they left the palace.

The rest of Belgium hurried about its usual noon-day business at the ending of one reign and the beginning of another.

The government banned a series of Communist party "vive the Republic" meetings planned for yesterday and today, but the party's newspaper Drapeau Rouge (Red Flag) declared the ban would be defied. Pro-Leopold demonstrations also were discouraged to prevent trouble.

Socialists already have asked young Baudouin to dissolve the present Parliament with its pro-Leopold Social Christian majority and call new elections.

Assembly Sets Modern Record

Harrisburg, (AP)—The Pennsylvania Legislature started the 20th week of its 1951 session yesterday with a new modern record for length.

The previous mark was made by the 1941 General Assembly which met 190 days, winding up its business on July 15, 1941.

Now the legislators can shoot for the 1942 marathon which ran 204 calendar days—from Jan. 4, 1942 to July 26, 1942. Like this year, that assembly wrangled for weeks over the question of taxes before reaching a solution and adjournment.

The longest session of the Pennsylvania Legislature was the first—in 1776. That session ran from Nov. 28, 1776 to Sept. 18, 1777, a total of 295 days. To exceed that record, present lawmakers would have to meet until November 23.

Killed By Tractor

Troy, (AP)—Verne A. Madigan, 68, brother of State Rep. Albert E. Madigan, was killed yesterday when a tractor he was driving overturned at the Madigan farm in Luthers Mills.

Iran Proclaims Martial Law, Order Communist Roundup; Mossadegh, Harriman Confer

Tehran, Iran, (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government proclaimed martial law in Tehran yesterday and ordered the biggest Communist roundup in two years.

The drastic action was the result of Nationalist-Communist riots Sunday in which official and unofficial reports said from four to 16 persons were killed and 276 injured.

Averell Harriman, President Truman's personal envoy, whose arrival touched off the bloody clash, had stepped into the middle of an explosive mixture of headstrong nationalism and Red agitation seeking to grab the oil nationalization for its own purposes. In such circumstances, observers said, it would be a miracle if Harriman induced Mossadegh to bend in the slightest toward compromise with the British.

President Truman's trouble-shooter spent more than an hour with Mossadegh yesterday, and contrary to his own plans, discussed the dispute over the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. at the very first meeting.

Mossadegh rose from his sickbed to talk to Harriman and scheduled a visit to Harriman's hotel for a second talk later in the day.

At Tabadan, site of the world's biggest refinery, British officials feared a fresh outbreak of violence. British officials charged a member of the British staff had been beaten by Tudeh Communist party members at the Haftkel field. They added they had been advised it "might not be safe" to send a commission to investigate.

There are now 1,250 convicts in the prison, which is 120 miles southwest of Denver.

The convicts "in solitary" were placed there after prison guards uncovered a store of weapons last May, apparently hidden by convicts planning an escape. A few days later a convict beat a guard severely after accusing him of exposing the plot.

The last major escape at the prison was Dec. 30, 1947 when 12 long-term inmates broke over the walls. But none got very far.

Two were killed by gunfire and five others were wounded. All the rest were recaptured.

The Warden said he discovered the gun was tossed to the five rioters, as they worked outside the prison walls, by a former convict he declined to identify.

The weapon, encased in a lead container and hidden in a box filled with sawdust, escaped detection by the prison's electric eye when the convicts were marched back inside the walls for lunch.

The knives used by the men were taken from the prison shoe-shop. About 10:45 A. M. (MST). The men detached themselves from a group of inmates and went to a cellhouse No. 1, which houses the isolation section.

Guard Capt. Chet Yeo followed them into the building and was shot by a prisoner armed with a .38-caliber automatic pistol. The other convicts carried knives. Yeo was reported in serious condition at a Canon City hospital.

Another guard, Amon Wordley, ran to the building and was shot in the leg.

By this time, the alarm had been sounded. Guards armed with submachine guns and rifles swarmed around the cellhouse and commanded the convicts to surrender.

When they refused, tear gas bombs were shot into the cellblock.

The armed convicts held out for 30 minutes, then tossed their weapons out a window and admitted defeat.

Bus Hits Truck During Shower; 4 Dead, 21 Hurt

Big Spring, Tex., (AP)—Four persons were killed and 21 injured yesterday when a packed interstate bus crashed into a parked gasoline transport truck during a thunderstorm.

Killed were Oliver Harvill, about 47, of Farmersville, Calif.; Pfc. Rafael A. Mendoza of Fort Hood, Texas; Mrs. Ruby Hefner, about 45, no other identification, and Mrs. Mary E. McDaniels, an elderly woman of Douglasville, Texas.

The impact knocked the big transcontinental bus and the empty transport across the highway. There was no fire.

Two Guards Wounded In Prison Riot

Canon City, Colo., (AP)—Five armed convicts staged a short-lived riot in the Colorado penitentiary yesterday and shot and wounded two guards before being subdued by a tear gas barrage.

The five, most of them serving long terms for murder, kidnapping and robbery, made an effort to turn loose 10 tough criminals held in solitary confinement for their part in previous escapes and riots at the prison.

Warden Roy Best said one of the convicts in the isolation sector, Harold Hathaway, was a ringleader of yesterday's outbreak. Hathaway has had a long record of trouble-making at the prison.

There are now 1,250 convicts in the prison, which is 120 miles southwest of Denver.

The convicts "in solitary" were placed there after prison guards uncovered a store of weapons last May, apparently hidden by convicts planning an escape. A few days later a convict beat a guard severely after accusing him of exposing the plot.

Twelve head of registered Holstein stock also were lost in the blaze at the property of Milton Morovich.

Firemen from 11 volunteer companies helped prevent the blaze from spreading to Morovich's house.

The farmer said the blaze broke out in the overhang of the barn, spreading quickly to a stable, chicken coop, garage, milk house, silo and corn crib.

Pipeline Afire

Duncannon, (AP)—A pipeline feeding kerosene into big storage tanks caught fire and blazed out of control for hours near this Dauphin County community yesterday. Damage was estimated at least $5,000.

Committee Asked

Harrisburg, (AP)—The General Assembly was asked last night to appoint a 12-member special committee to probe alleged tie-ins between local public officials and racketeers.

Floods Move Downstream Into Missouri, Oklahoma

Kansas City, Mo., (AP)—Flooding Kansas rivers poured their torrents into Missouri and Oklahoma yesterday, putting the pressure on those states as water dropped faster than expected in the Kansas river valley and this metropolitan area of 900,000 persons. Seventeen persons have died in the flood.

The flood has been the costliest in the nation's history in dollar value. Maj. Gen. Lewis Pick, chief of the Army Engineers has estimated the cost to the entire area as more than $150,000,000, nearly twice as much as that in the 1937 Ohio, Mississippi floods.

Mayor Kenneth Wilke of Topeka, Kas., estimated the loss to his city, alone, as $100,000,000. There has been no estimate made public for Kansas City, the largest sufferer.

A four-day-old fire that has burned seven blocks in Kansas City still burned fiercely, but firemen hoped they could prevent further spread.

As Kansas City and other communities upstream on the Kansas river began the long, dreary task of cleaning up the mess left by the floods, Miami, Okla., felt the full force of the torrents from the Neosho river, pouring down from southeastern Kansas. The city of 12,000 persons was virtually isolated as the Neosho, known as the Grand river in Oklahoma, reached a stage nearly 10 feet higher than ever recorded before.

One-fourth of the city was inundated, and 3,000 to 3,500 persons were homeless there.

Downstream Missouri river cities of Booneville and Jefferson City, Mo., were warned to prepare for record crests in the next few days. As these new warnings went out, the day brought these new developments:

One—The House at Washington upped from $15,000,000 to $25,000,000 the funds provided in a relief bill requested by President Truman. The bill was passed without a dissenting vote.

A Senate committee approved a bill containing the original amount. Final vote is not possible until today as the Senate was in recess yesterday.

Two—President Truman decided to fly home today to make a personal inspection of the flood areas. He may fly as far west as Manhattan, Kas., to get a complete picture.

Three—The waters that have inundated four major industrial districts in Kansas City have dropped faster than expected, five to 10 feet in some places. They have dropped sufficiently to permit workmen to enter the Turkey Creek pumping station for rehabilitation work.

Four—The fire in Kansas City, which has burned seven blocks, is still burning, but firemen hoped they could prevent further spread.

Five—The fire in Kansas City, which has burned seven blocks, is still burning, but firemen hoped they could prevent further spread.

Six—The fire in Kansas City, which has burned seven blocks, is still burning, but firemen hoped they could prevent further spread.

Seven—The fire in Kansas City, which has burned seven blocks, is still burning, but firemen hoped they could prevent further spread.

Eight—The fire in Kansas City, which has burned seven blocks, is still burning, but firemen hoped they could prevent further spread.

Nine—The fire in Kansas City, which has burned seven blocks, is still burning, but firemen hoped they could prevent further spread.

Ten—The fire in Kansas City, which has burned seven blocks, is still burning, but firemen hoped they could prevent further spread.

Eleven—The fire in Kansas City, which has burned seven blocks, is still burning, but firemen hoped they could prevent further spread.

Twelve—The fire in Kansas City, which has burned seven blocks, is still burning, but firemen hoped they could prevent further spread.

Optimism Marks Work On Agenda

Munsan, Korea, Tuesday, (AP)—Cautious optimism was displayed by some Allied officers today as the Kaesong cease-fire conference progressed toward agreement on an agenda—the talking points that may end the 56-week-old Korean war.

The United Nations and Communist delegations were to meet again at 11 a. m. today (8 p. m. EDT Monday).

U. N. officials declined to speculate how long it might take to agree on an agenda. They left the impression, however, that it might be only a short time.

The conservatively worded official U. N. communiqué reported last night that "some progress was made toward the formation of a mutually agreed upon agenda" during two 35-minute sessions yesterday.

Negotiators spent the day discussing only agenda items. All procedural matters have been ironed out.

There were hints the talks were taking a smoother course. The atmosphere was described as more relaxed.

Associated Press Correspondent Robert H. Tuckman reported that "peace in Korea appeared closer but it is still far from a certainty."

He warned, however, that "sound observers believe the armistice talks still are in a delicate stage and conceivably could be upset at any time."

Members of the five-man Red delegation willingly posed for Allied photographers yesterday following the short afternoon meeting. The U. N. delegation posed earlier, during a two-hour mid-day recess.

A briefing officer who attended the session said "everyone was more friendly today than before. The Chinese especially seemed in good spirits at the afternoon sessions."

A number of observers at the Allied advance base felt the talks finally were "on the tracks."

No one knew for sure just what items would be on the agenda when it was framed.

The U. N. delegates have ruled out anything that does not pertain to military matters in Korea. This would eliminate all political issues such as a U. N. seat for Communist China or the status of Formosa and Indo-China—topics close to Communist hearts.

It apparently also ruled out the question of withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea, since this might be continued as a political question.

The Allies probably will demand discussion of neutral cease-fire reconnaissance teams to roam behind opposing lines to see what is going on.

Also there will be talk of what positions each side will hold once a cease-fire is arranged.

Light Contracts Reported Along Korean Front

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Tuesday, (AP)—Allied troops patrolled for miles north of their lines in Korea yesterday without any major fights with the Communists.

A pooled dispatch from the Allied "peace" camp at Munsan quoted unidentified officers as warning that the Reds were prepared to launch a massive attack if the cease-fire negotiations should fail.

These officers were quoted as saying the Reds could throw 72 divisions at the Allies. At the usual estimate of 8,000 to 10,000 men in a Red division, this would be from a half million to three quarters of a million men.

However, an Eighth Army briefing officer, questioned on similar anonymous reports Saturday, said enemy units at or near the front would total only about 200,000 if at full strength. Eighth Army officers also have estimated Red strength throughout North Korea and within reach in Manchuria at about 45 divisions.

Nehru Denies India Plans War

Bangalore, India, (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru declared yesterday that Indian troops are massing along Pakistan's borders "to give full security to our frontier areas."

He hotly denied before a big congress gathering here that the Army units were moving toward Pakistan as a war threat.

Nehru said Pakistan Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan did not state the correct facts Sunday in a news conference at Karachi.

Senate Democrats Offer Services In State Tax Dispute

Harrisburg, (AP)—Senate Democrats offered last night to step into the Republican breach on taxes and help draft a substitute for the controversial income tax levy.

Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, made the overture in a floor debate on the stymied tax program, declaring:

"If the Governor is sincere and he wants to sit down and discuss this problem with everyone, we will cooperate. This stalemate isn't doing anyone any good."

Still poles apart, Republican senators, as Dent made his offer, put the problem on ice at least until after next week's primary election. They decided against trying to reach an agreement this week.

Gov. John S. Fine has insisted on enactment of a one-half of one per cent income tax to raise $119,000,000 to balance his $122,000,000 budget. A split in the GOP Senate caucus has held up action on the tax problem since April.

Dent declined to disclose details of specific phases of his proposed tax program. He emphasized, however, that the Democrats would insist that its levies be earmarked for items that may exceed the Governor's budget, such as $46,000,000 for teachers' salaries.

"Our party feels that the Governor's budget can be financed by present taxes," he told a newsmen. "Any new taxes that we may support would have to be earmarked for items apart from his budget."

Dent's plan met with no immediate reaction from Republicans. Sen. James S. Berger, (R-Potter), GOP caucus chairman, declined to comment on the Dent speech.

Democrats were somewhat close-lipped about their tax suggestions. One Democratic senator, who declined quotation by name, conceived it was "only in the feeler stage."

Another senator said the Democrats were considering a State tax on real estate transfers. The Federal government already taxes the sale of property from one party to another.

The Democrats were known to be unalterably opposed to the income tax or a sales levy. They also opposed enactment of the soft drinks tax in both the 1947 and 1949 Legislatures.

Before Dent spoke, Berger declared after a closed policy-making caucus of the 30 Republican senators:

"We are worse off now than we were several weeks ago."

Berger, a supporter of Fine's stymied one-half of one per cent income tax, said the caucus suspended operations of the compromise committee named to try for a settlement of the three-month-long deadlock.

"We decided to end the operations of the committee of eight because the suggestions of the committee could not meet the full-fledged support of the caucus," Berger said. "There is no sense continuing these meetings when you can't get full agreement."

Berger added "we don't plan to talk about taxes until we return after the primary elections next week. Maybe things will be straightened out a little better by then."

In the Senate session itself, a clarifying amendment held up action on a bill to take able-bodied persons off the State's relief rolls. It could be called up for a vote today. A similar measure was introduced in the House.

Under the bill when Federal figures show less than 3,000,000 persons unemployed in the nation, able-bodied persons 18 to 45 years would be dropped from Pennsylvania's relief rolls.

Sen. Fred P. Hare Jr. (R-Somerset), a sponsor of the bill said one of its purposes would be to encourage employable persons to move from blighted areas where they could get jobs.

Hare said the definition of able-bodied persons would be left to local assistance authorities. Medical and mental examinations would be given to persons applying for relief to determine whether they are able to hold jobs.

Berger noted the compromise committee suggested an alternate tax program designed to raise the $119,000,000 which Fine said was needed to balance the State's $122,000,000 budget for the next two years. The committee was set up after eleven Republican senators—sufficient for defeat—refused to support the income levy.

The alternate program includes revival of the discarded soft drink tax, with the rate increased from one to two cents a bottle; a new tax on tobacco products, and increases in liquor, beer and inher-

Taxing Isn't Enough

When the Truman administration goes before Congress for new taxes, it talks always about its spending needs.

It doesn't talk nearly enough about not spending. The House, in passing the new tax bill, cut the administration's request back about $3 billion. But even the House hasn't taken sufficiently vigorous companion action on the spending front.

Senate Finance committee members are saying the administration doesn't need, and couldn't wisely spend, the $10 billion it asks in new taxes.

But while the Finance committee talks informally in this fashion, the big spending bills keep finding their way through Congress without drastic reductions.

Financing the defense effort without deficits is important. But it is just as important to get rid of the excess baggage in appropriations.

The Senate threatens to rewrite completely the administration's tax bill. It is a political tax bill, written with the 1952 elections in mind. And the revenue estimates claimed for it are open to serious question. So it needs rewriting.

But, while it is being rewritten, Congress should work vigorously at the twin job of writing down appropriations. When the government raises a man's taxes, it compels him to retrench—a sacrifice he makes to help the defense effort.

Similar sacrifice by the government is fully as essential. High taxation threatens to be with us for a long time. It is necessary, to pay as we go for defense and to curb the inflation which large-scale government borrowing would feed.

But taxing ourselves for non-essential, dispensable or wasteful government activities is an equally dangerous handicap in our struggle against aggression.

Political, but Unusual

With a few notable exceptions, President Truman's appointments of Federal judges have been politically inspired. His latest follows the pattern—but for unusual reasons.

He has named Luther W. Youngdahl, earnest and popular Republican Governor of Minnesota, to succeed the late Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, a Maryland Democrat, on the Federal District Court in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Youngdahl, formerly a judge in Minnesota courts for 16 years, seems well qualified for the Federal bench. But he had been regarded as certain to win a fourth term as Governor next year.

His removal from Minnesota politics vastly improves 1952 election chances for that state's Democratic-Farmer-Labor coalition, which is understandably jubilant over the appointment. So is Democratic Senator Hubert Humphrey, who was in on the deal.

It also improves the prospect that the next Democratic candidate for President will carry Minnesota—a consideration which may not have been without personal appeal to Mr. Truman.

Interesting, by contrast, is the situation in Illinois where three Federal judgeships have been vacant for more than six months—one for a whole year.

Unlike Senator Humphrey, the Democratic Senator from Illinois, Paul Douglas, occasionally has differed with the White House. Mr. Truman has made it plain that his regard for Senator Douglas is far from warm.

So the Illinois court, despite dockets so crowded that Congress last year created two new judgeships, waits for its judges. And waits.

Armstrong county, South Dakota, has title of the most sparsely populated county in the United States. According to the 1950 census, it has only 52 persons.

The world's smallest mass-produced screw, a watch part, can easily pass through the eye of a medium-sized needle.

Try And Stop Me

The latest wrangle between two radio comics and a columnist, over who "originated" a joke—this one concerned the lady who took such wonderful liver pills that two months after she died, at the ripe age of ninety-seven, they had to beat her liver to death with a stick—was suddenly allowed to subside when one mean old researcher discovered it in a book called The World of Anecdotes, published in Philadelphia in 1874!

Abraham Lincoln was fond of the story about two Quaker ladies who fell into a discussion concerning himself and Jefferson Davis. "I think Jefferson will win the war," declared the first Quakeress.

"Why does thee lean to this opinion?"

"Because Jefferson is a praying man."

"And so is Abraham a praying man."

"Ah, yes," answered the first. "But the Lord will think Abraham is joking."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—We newspaper reporters have taken an awful beating, from time to time, in the movies. We're being depicted as drunken, disheveled bums who leave our hats on indoors and bark insults at our news sources.

These libels reach a peak, in the view of some of my typewriting brethren, in a picture called "Are in the Hole." Newman Kirk Douglas keeps a man trapped in a cave for six days—long enough to cover Kirk with journalistic glory and for the man to die. I thought it an absorbing venture in abnormal psychology; the Douglas character is clearly nuts. And there are several examples of able, conscientious reporters in the story for contrast.

Anyhow, I thought I'd drop around and see what reactions Director Billy Wilder ("Lost Weekend," "Sunset Boulevard") is getting from his latest unorthodox film.

"Everything from 'cruel and unnecessary' to 'magnificent and unique,'" said Billy.

A balding, bullet-headed man in gray slacks and a short-sleeved sport shirt, he got up and paced around his handsome office. I speculated that Vienna-born Wilder, once a police reporter himself in Berlin, must like making provocative pictures.

"I love it," he boomed. "Only by doing this type of thing will you compete with television. It's the new trend in pictures. In developing plots, we've gone all over the world—teamed piano tuners with countesses. We've told every plot backward and forward."

"Now we've started exploring in depth. Take any old story, go a couple of inches deeper, and you get a different story. There have been 5,000 pictures about a theatre understudy getting to be a star. In 4,999 of them the understudy was an angel. But (Director) Joe Mankiewicz said, 'Who says she's an angel? Maybe she's a house.' The result was 'All About Eve.'"

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

A Footnote From Hong-kong
The "Hong-kong Standard" discusses at great length Dean Acheson's astonishing statement that "Chiang Kai-Shek and other Chinese Nationalist leaders were entirely satisfied with the terms of the Yalta agreement and the Sino-Soviet treaty negotiated on the basis of it."

The Hongkong newspaper calls attention to these facts:

"Only four months after the conclusion of this (Yalta) agreement was China advised of its existence. China had either to raise a hue and cry at the risk of impairing allied unity in the war or to acquiesce in the act of misappropriation committed by the United States and Great Britain and reply (sic) on their support to insure the faithful observance of the agreement by the Soviet Union. In a sacrificing spirit, China reluctantly entered into negotiations with Russia for the conclusion of a formal treaty. Through the months of July and August, 1945, the negotiations were on the point of breaking down at various stages; but the sudden surrender of Japan paved the way for its conclusion, as China was then anxious to preserve the spirit de corps with the United States for the sake of her future programme of rehabilitation and reconstruction, and also because Russia solemnly undertook to refrain from lending aid to the Chinese Communists. . . .

This is a fair statement of what happened. It will be recalled that the President of the United States undertook at Yalta to get Chiang to reach an agreement with Soviet Russia. Had Chiang rejected Roosevelt's proposals, he would have faced the antagonism of both Roosevelt and Stalin. His peril was so great that he had no alternative but to agree to the Somo-Molotov treaty.

I quote from this article copiously because it seems to me to be so complete as to represent not only considerable study but Formosan inspiration. It looks like an indirect Chiang Kai-Shek reply to Dean Acheson. Therefore, it is important to note that Dean Acheson's statement made before the Russell Committee that the United States gave Chiang $2,000,000,000 as aid, since the end of the war, is analyzed and brought to a much lower figure.

Of the $2,000,000,000, according to the "Hongkong Standard," $1,-

000,000,000 was non-military aid concerning which the paper says that "no less than 50 per cent must be charged to 'expenses and services' (including those of American engineering firms, shipping companies and technicians). Of the remainder of U. S. $600,000,000, the sum of U. S. $500,000,000 must be charged to the so-called 'surplus property' sold to China by Gen. Geo. C. Marshall. In the deal China was to get not what she wanted or needed but what the United States did not find it economical to ship back to its own shores. Much of the surplus property consisted of such useless things as vitamin pills, cosmetics, canned foods unsafe for human consumption, and spare parts which could fit into nothing, and equipment for which China had no use. Whatever remained useful had to be reconditioned at great expense. It is estimated that of this U. S. $500,000,000 worth of surplus property, no more than U. S. $100,000,000 in value was actually received by China. . . ." Note: The billions and millions got twisted in Hong-kong.

And of this amount, the Hong-kong newspaper says:

"It is less than the amount which the United Nations has to spend for its police action in Korea for less than a month

while China had to spread it over a period of five years and over an area at least 10 times larger than Korea. Certainly, it is infinitely less than the price of Manchuria which the United States gave away to Russia with consequences which cannot be expressed in terms of dollars and cents."

The article ends in a characteristic Chinese parable which no one can misunderstand:

"In the present Senate investigation, China is like a helpless child standing between a friendly relative and an unfriendly step-mother while they quarrel about her before all the neighbors. If the child utters one word on the side of the step-mother, she may displease the relative; if the child utters a word on the side of the relative, she may make the unfriendly step-mother all the more unfriendly; and if the child keeps silent, all the mud now being smeared about her may be considered as being well deserved in the opinion of all the neighbors and what is more, she may even lose the relative's moral support and thereafter all the material support from the step-mother who will then have no one to fear for abandoning her altogether."

Even Dean Acheson ought to taste the kernel of this little parable.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington—It's a pity we can't all be butchers or bakers or candlestick makers long enough to find out just what price control means.

I have on my desk at the moment 32 pages of fine print, issued by the Office of Price Stabilization, that placed ceilings on prices for beef—just beef, and only for independent retail markets. I haven't been able to find time to read through the fine print setting up price ceilings for pork, lamb, poultry, and other meat products, such as lungs, livers, udders and melts.

The nation's retail butchers must scan the fine print for the 147 price listings for beef. If they miss one, or misread it, a private eye from OPS can cite the butcher for price violations.

Some fifty more pages of finely printed instructions accompany price listings sent to retail grocers. The instructions can only be read under a strong light. I have no idea what kind of aid is necessary to insure an understanding of the instructions. A sample:

"Tea includes all bulk or packaged tea, tea bags and concentrated tea, except assam, darjeeling, formosa, oolong, ceylon, kee-mun, lap-sang, sou-chong, jasmine and fancy green teas, and blends thereof; mates; and sales of tea in containers of the customary unit and weight in which they are imported into the United States. Excluded also is imported tea, if imported in consumer size containers."

What would your instructions be as a retail grocer—to one of the High School students you had hired as part-time summer help when he asked what price to put on tea containers on your store shelf?

Since February 27, 1951, the OPS has issued a series of ceiling price regulations. These number over 50 now and, if the ones I have are indicative of the majority, grocers have little time for anything but reading.

Regulation 25, for instance, issued on April 30, is 31 pages long. For the benefit of butchers, some of whom have been in the meat cutting business for 50 years, OPS thoughtfully provided two charts displaying the standard cuts of beef.

Inserted in Regulation 25 was a four-page amendment to that particular price regulation. It placed various musical instruments under OPS regulations. It must have been reassuring to oboe players to learn that OPS was watching out for them, just as it must have been for harp and piccolo players. Personally, I had no idea the defense build up is going to place these instruments in short supply. And, judging from the looks of back shop and second hand store windows, I doubt if it will.

As taxpayers we are paying for the steady flow of printed material mailed out by the OPS. And judging from the OPS itself very little of what they are sending to retail outlets is understood by store owners or managers. In Region 13, in Portland, Ore., the OPS staff made a list of so-called "common errors" in list price charts. Besides trying to keep their store shelves filled, their customers happy and their concerns in the black, the butcher, baker and candlestick maker have to contend with a flood of rules and regulations. If they don't they go to jail.

Here are a few things the OPS in Portland has complained about when merchants filed their list price charts:

1. Signature is missing; 2. position of store is missing; 3. the approximate net dollar volume of total retail sales of all commodities in the year 1950 is missing; 4. the base date should be February 24, 1951, unless you were not open for business on that date.

Broadway and Elsewhere

—By Jack Lait

My initial column last year was a report on Europe, after a quick tour by a trained observer. And here's the 1951 round-up from notes he turned in after he did the circuit again:

Italy—This is the most pro-American of foreign countries. Gen. Eisenhower is a powerful influence. His presence is doing more than Marshall Plan to sell our spirit and our policies. Italy is slowly getting back on its feet. Only in Sicily, where conditions are miserable, and where the Reds are campaigning fiercely (promising "autonomy") are we anathema. The islanders feel any change at all would be an improvement.

Italians are impatient for a treaty, so they can carry out their role in the Atlantic Pact. They have no navy. They need submarines to patrol the Adriatic, where the Russians are building bases in Albania on the Gulf of Otranto. But there is less fear of war, and economic stability is growing.

In Rome conditions are up. There is still a drastic housing problem, but new prosperity flashes conspicuously, evidenced by good cars, well-dressed people, crowded cafes. Around Naples, there is a hangover of poverty. The Korean war caused shortages of critical material diverted from the United States. Refugees are still a plague, with about 240,000 in Italy and nearby territory awaiting clearance for the U. S. These are mostly Yugoslavians, Czechs, Romanians, Bulgarians and Austrians.

England—The insular British, with nothing much left except tradition, are proud, sore unbending. They are jealous of our good life, have no qualms about our supporting them, as they still think they bled themselves so we could sit back and get fat and rich. Gratitude to this upstart land is no part of English consciousness.

Food is still scarce, despite glowing brochures, ballyhoosing the Festival. Tourists flock in but they rush out. The Continent sets far more attractive tables. More than 225,000 Americans have crossed the Atlantic within the year and spent many millions abroad. England is making a high pitch for this business, which is increasing. Trans World Airlines, which gets you there in half a day, is heavily booked and foresees the heaviest traffic since before the debacle of 1929.

But the British tourists don't come over here. They flock to France, Italy and Switzerland, where they can feed up. Vacationers are allowed five pounds ($14.50) a day abroad. They seek out cheap hotels and gorge on beef, fresh vegetables and fruits. Many are so undernourished after long austerity that their stomachs have shrunk and cannot consume all their eyes covet.

The new royal reign has in effect already begun. Princess Elizabeth is taking over her father's functions. Her husband, Prince Philip, will soon give up his Mediterranean command and return to London to assume the duties of the consort.

France—The capital, celebrating its 2,000th year, is gay. Conditions improve steadily. Atlantic City, near Paris, radiates a feeling of security. The government seems more scrambled than it has been since the war, but there is less threat that it will be radical.

Yugoslavia—Our loan to Tito probably halted his overthrow by the pro-Kremlin clique. Ironically, had he weakened before Stalin, he would have been boosted out by his own people, who would rather die than submit to outside interference. A condition of the loan was—no encroachment on national prerogatives. The sentiment of the majority is pro-Western, but there are no strong leaders to effect changes. The 600,000,000 was non-military aid concerning which the paper says that "no less than 50 per cent must be charged to 'expenses and services' (including those of American engineering firms, shipping companies and technicians). Of the remainder of U. S. $600,000,000, the sum of U. S. $500,000,000 must be charged to the so-called 'surplus property' sold to China by Gen. Geo. C. Marshall. In the deal China was to get not what she wanted or needed but what the United States did not find it economical to ship back to its own shores. Much of the surplus property consisted of such useless things as vitamin pills, cosmetics, canned foods unsafe for human consumption, and spare parts which could fit into nothing, and equipment for which China had no use. Whatever remained useful had to be reconditioned at great expense. It is estimated that of this U. S. $500,000,000 worth of surplus property, no more than U. S. $100,000,000 in value was actually received by China. . . ." Note: The billions and millions got twisted in Hong-kong.

And of this amount, the Hong-kong newspaper says:

"It is less than the amount which the United Nations has to spend for its police action in Korea for less than a month

while China had to spread it over a period of five years and over an area at least 10 times larger than Korea. Certainly, it is infinitely less than the price of Manchuria which the United States gave away to Russia with consequences which cannot be expressed in terms of dollars and cents."

The article ends in a characteristic Chinese parable which no one can misunderstand:

"In the present Senate investigation, China is like a helpless child standing between a friendly relative and an unfriendly step-mother while they quarrel about her before all the neighbors. If the child utters one word on the side of the step-mother, she may displease the relative; if the child utters a word on the side of the relative, she may make the unfriendly step-mother all the more unfriendly; and if the child keeps silent, all the mud now being smeared about her may be considered as being well deserved in the opinion of all the neighbors and what is more, she may even lose the relative's moral support and thereafter all the material support from the step-mother who will then have no one to fear for abandoning her altogether."

Even Dean Acheson ought to taste the kernel of this little parable.

Motor Club Urges Shotwell To Vote Against Truck Measure

Weight Bill Draws Fire From Dengler

Rep. John S. Shotwell (R-Monroe) was urged yesterday by R. LeRoy Dengler, president of Monroe County Automobile club, to reject the trucking industry's demand for heavier trucks and kill the big-truck bill now pending before the lower house.

The measure, Senate Bill 615, passed the Senate last week and has been referred to the Committee on Motor Vehicles in the House.

Mr. Dengler charged that heavier trucks would make Pennsylvania's highways more dangerous to motorists and would cost the State's highway-users and general taxpayers additional million of dollars each year in highway maintenance costs.

Attacking what he termed the "Legislature's disregard for engineering facts and advice," the AAA motor club official said the State should wait for the final results of the Maryland Road tests to determine the damages heavy trucks inflict on highways.

"Pennsylvania has made a substantial payment for these tests," Mr. Dengler stated. "It would be a waste of the taxpayers' money to increase weights before these tests are complete."

The club official scored what he claimed was "a small, well-organized minority of heavy truckers," who he said "are trying to take advantage of the great majority . . . Pennsylvania's 3,000,000 motorists and small truckers."

"The ever-increasing tendency to permit heavier and heavier trucks must be halted if we are to protect this State's billion-dollar highway system," Mr. Dengler asserted.

Purge Stone Kills 2 Birds

Frankfurt, Germany (AP)—Hungarian Communists are killing two birds with one stone in their evaluation of "undesirable elements" from Budapest, refugee Hungarians here claim.

In the first place, the Red party is being strengthened in the capital. In the second, dwelling places are made available for Soviet Army officers and secret police arriving from Moscow.

Recently the Hungarian government announced officially that it was ordering all "undesirable elements" from the capital. The statement admitted 924 families had been banished in May and June.

In Washington, the State department radio estimated that 50,000 persons have been evicted thus far from their homes in Budapest during a reported Hungarian Communist purge of "undesirables."

Store Names Manager Of Department

May D. Stadfeld, manager of the J. C. Penney Co. store, Stroudsburg, yesterday announced that Bart J. Mitchell, New Rochelle, N. Y., will be in charge of the men's and boys' clothing and furnishings department.

Mr. Mitchell is a native of New Rochelle. He is a graduate of New Rochelle High school and Iona College in that city with a BBA degree.

He served in the Navy during World War Two aboard the USS Midway. He became affiliated with Penney's in 1949 in Camden, N. J.

Cook Skips Town With Diner's $125

A short-order cook in Palace diner identified by Stroudsburg police as Claude Ottaway is sought for theft of about $125 from a cash box and the cash register at the diner around 5:30 a.m. yesterday.

Chief of Police James F. McConnell said Ottaway rode a taxi to Delaware Water Gap early yesterday morning. An immediate police search in that community plus a check on bridges at Portland and Delaware failed to disclose any trace of Ottaway, police said.

Miles F. Bossard Jr., night manager of the diner, told police he had gone into an adjacent back room of the diner around 5:30 a.m. Bossard said he returned to find the short order cook missing and cash missing from both the register and a metal money box.

The diner manager immediately notified Assistant Chief of Police Stanley Fetherman and Officer John B. Trothman. Officers made a swift check in the borough and contacted the taxi office.

There they learned that a man answering Ottaway's description had hired a cab to take him to Delaware Water Gap.

Police moved immediately to that community, enlisting the aid of Chief of Police Fred Decker to check there. Decker also had both bridges covered.

Chief of Police McConnell said yesterday Ottaway boarded in a Stroudsburg home. The officer said he had worked at another diner near Stroudsburg about a year ago. The man is believed to have come here from California.

Police said Ottaway is about 33 years old, five feet eight inches tall, black hair, tattoo on right arm. He was wearing a white short-sleeve shirt, dark striped trousers. The man weighs 150 to 155 pounds and has medium dark complexion.

Joyce Mathews Blames Bad Publicity For Suicide Try

New York (AP)—Blonde showgirl Joyce Mathews yesterday blamed bad publicity—and not love—for her half-hearted suicide try Sunday in Billy Rose's apartment.

"I had what I thought was especially bad publicity," she said. "I got to feeling desperate about my child and career and thought for a while I might have both of them taken away from me."

The publicity linked her romantically with Rose, the flamboyant Broadway showman. But Miss Mathews insisted she is not in love with Rose.

He is married to sultry Eleanor Holm, former swimming star. Miss Mathews is the divorced wife of comic Milton Berle, television top performer.

Miss Mathews left Roosevelt hospital yesterday. Only a small bandage and a few nicks showed where she made a pass at both wrists with a razor blade.

The 31-year-old beauty was found unconscious Sunday in the bathroom of Rose's plush apartment over the Ziegfeld theater in mid-Manhattan. Rose called police.

"I feel terrible about the whole thing," Miss Mathews told a reporter. "I went to Billy Rose's house because of something I read in some of the columns."

Broadway has gossiped about Miss Mathews and Rose for some days.

News that they flew together to Montreal last week also leaked out. Miss Mathews said she went along to talk about a TV job while Rose was looking into some mining stock.

Pocono Resort Builds $30,000 Sewage Plant

Milford—The proper disposal of waste and sewage matter has long been recognized as one of the thorniest problems confronting summer resort managers. Owners of resorts have become increasingly cognizant of the extreme value of an efficient disposal system, and rate it as an important aspect of progressive resort operation.

Recognition of the worth of a competent means of disposal prompted Lew Miller, director of Camp Log tavern, near Milford, to install a completely new, modernized sewage treatment plant at his resort. Constructed at a cost of $30,000 the plant's operation is based on the filter bed disposal system.

Waste matter is routed through 1,800 feet of piping, three feet underground, to an air-light collection and decomposition vat. From this vat, it then proceeds through automatic siphons to an air-filled 75 x 150-foot sand bed, where a purification process takes place. The final step purifies the waste matter through a chlorination process which utilizes cylinders of chlorine gas and automatic chlorinating equipment. The plant is automatic and permanently produces water which is 98% pure and odorless. In fact, it has been accepted by State conservation authorities as being fit to empty into streams without fear of contamination.

Camp Log tavern, which accommodates thousands of guests each summer, uses 1000 pounds of chlorine during the season. Mr. Miller estimates that the sewage treatment plant will handle disposal of approximately 50,000 gallons of waste material accumulated daily.

Pennsylvania Cat Walks Home From Lafayette, Ind.

Lafayette, Ind. (AP)—Jasper, a five-year-old grey and white tomcat, apparently has renounced his Hoosier birthplace and has taken a 700-mile hike back to his temporary home in Pennsylvania.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Martin of Lafayette returned last May from Pennsylvania, where the doctor served a 10-month assignment as an Army reserve captain at Valley Forge, Pa.

They brought Jasper back with them, but as soon as they stepped from the car in Lafayette the cat headed eastward.

Dr. and Mrs. Martin received a letter several days ago from their Pennsylvania landlady saying Jasper had returned there. The landlady is Mrs. A. J. Wilson, Route 1, Phoenixville, 25 miles west of Philadelphia and about 700 miles from Lafayette.

"He won't be extradited," said Dr. Martin. "Jasper had a good thing in Pennsylvania."

County Shows Steady Drop In DPA Cases

Department of Public Assistance here had carried 2.3 per cent of Monroe County's population on its rolls during the last half of June compared with 3.3 per cent for the same period a year ago.

Assistance of varied forms was extended to 785 persons during the last half of June this year, compared with 1,066 in June last year.

Breakdown of assistance for the period this year shows 33 were on general assistance, 384 old age assistance, 251 aid to dependent children, 71 aid to disabled and 46 blind pensions.

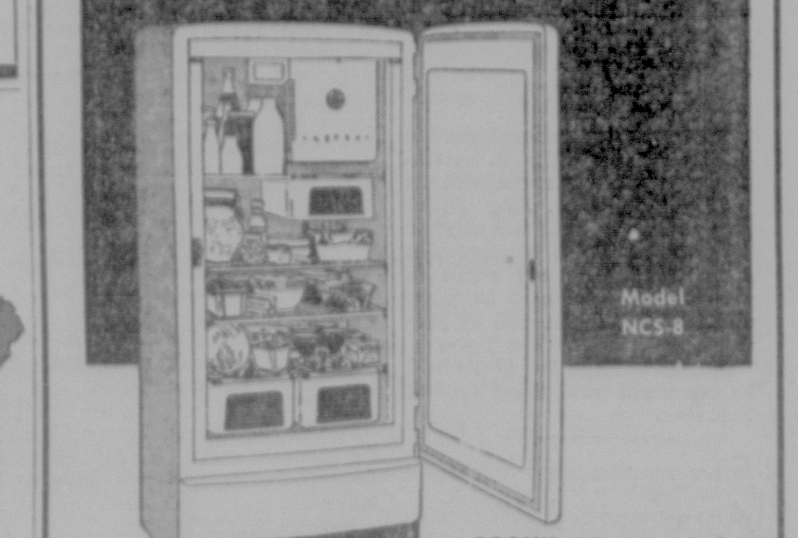

A year ago the total broke down to 145 general assistance, 466 old age, 404 aid to dependent children and 51 blind pension at a cost of $33,609.10.

Susan Balmer Has Brownie Birthday Party

Brown-eyed Susans decorated the Brownie birthday party given for Susan Balmer last week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Palmer, 800 Thomas St., Stroudsburg.

Susan and her little friends, all of whom are Brownies, were entertained at a supper. The centerpiece was a Brownie doll with brown-eyed Susans, the favors were Brownie autograph books, and the baskets and other decorations were in yellow and brown.

Her guests included Judy Bush, Linda Linderman, Mary Drake, Pamela Bonser, Sandra Metzgar, Gladia Yach, Faith Zahorik, of Stroudsburg and Sue Ann Lewis, of Scranton.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Finally got to the point yesterday where you envied the firemen for their Monday night parties run. Must have been quite a breeze up there on the trucks.

It's a peculiar thing how weather affects you. During the worst of the heat with everybody going around crimson-faced and dripping with sweat—you could stand it.

But when the cooling dew was falling outside, and you knew everybody was sitting on their darkened lawns watching the moon rise, then the office seemed to get hotter, and hotter and hotter.

As a mirage in the desert makes the traveler all the thirstier; as the pictures in the food section of the magazine makes the housewife who's worked right through lunch all the hungrier and more dissatisfied with the egg-nog she's finally stopped to make.

As the sight of young things in evening dresses off for a party makes the very young mother who's finally got the children to sleep feel all the more weary and untidy.

So the thought of that dew, falling silently and blessedly on the feverish earth, made the lights and heat and clacking typewriter seem all the more unbearable. I just hope you enjoyed yourselves. I hope you took off your shoes and really reveled in it.

And since this stint is so nearly over, maybe I can wish that you didn't catch cold. And take courage. Since St. Swithins day on Sunday set the pattern, we're likely to be in for forty days of this.

August meeting, Marion Lee was awarded the welfare prize.

Poplar Valley Bazaar Planned For August 10

Poplar Valley—The Poplar Valley Women's Society of Christian Service has planned its annual bazaar to be held on August 10 at their July meeting.

The business meeting was preceded by a picnic luncheon for the members and their families on the cool lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Marsh. Each family brought their favorite dish of food.

Members of the society then gathered for the business meeting when details of the bazaar were planned. It will be held in the social hall of the church. New and permanent metal signs were ordered purchased to mark the way clearly. The group, famous for its homemade ice cream, decided to make quantities of it as well as other foods, baked goods, and home made articles for sale and a grab bag for the children.

Mrs. Edward Gunn, president, presided at the meeting when other routine business was transacted. The Sunday school picnic, it was announced will be held at Bushkill Park on Saturday, August 4. Home coming services for the church, with special speakers and special music has been planned for Sunday, September 9.

Members who stayed for the meeting were: Mrs. Emma Marsh, Mrs. Ethel Brewer, Mrs. Hazel Fenner, Mrs. Mary Carson, Mrs. Elizabeth Schuchard, Mrs. Laura Brewer, Mrs. Sylvia Gunn, Mrs. Helen Dennis, Mrs. Nona Reish, Mrs. Anna Hennet, and Mrs. Carrie Dennis.

Mrs. Marsh, the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Peter Jennings and Mrs. Elwood Fenner. The August meeting will be held in the social hall with Anna Hennet and Viola Heffer as hostesses.

Mrs. E. A. Spring Is Honored At Surprise Party

Mrs. E. A. Spring, of Smith St., East Stroudsburg, was the guest of honor at a surprise birthday party held on Sunday at the Stroudsburg playground. Dinner was served and she received many gifts, including two birthday cakes.

Those in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. James Smith; Mr. and Mrs. George Butz, Mr. and Mrs. George Spring and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Werkheiser and sons, Mr. and Mrs. William Arnold, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Tittle.

Absent from the party were a daughter, Helen, and her husband, now at Fort Bragg, and a son, Fred and his family, were absent because of illness.

Water Gap Methodist Picnic Wed.

Delaware Water Gap—The annual picnic of the Delaware Water Gap Methodist church and Sunday school will be held on Wednesday, July 18, at the Stroudsburg playground.

Mrs. Shiffer Honored On 86th Birthday

Mrs. Mary Ann Shiffer was the guest of honor at a family dinner held on Sunday at the Log Cabin Inn, marking her 86th birthday. She wore an orchid which had been presented to her by her granddaughter, Marion Schuttler.

Mrs. Shiffer received many gifts and cards and later in the afternoon was the guest of honor at an informal lawn party at the home of her son, Granville Shiffer, when ice cream and a birthday cake were served.

Young Dancers In Colorful Club Program

The young dancers who performed before the Stroudsburg Rotary club at its meeting last week have been highly praised not only for the excellence of their dances but also for the costumes which made the program one of the most colorful of the summer.

Opening on the cool note of "The Skater's Waltz" featured Mary Frances Frankenhof as soloist, Carol Leitner, Mary Ann Bosman, Colleen Campbell and Joan Harl. Ann Shaffer was presented in "Waltz Improvisation" on toe and Shelby Carter's solo numbers included "To A Wild Rose" and "Treasure Valley."

Barbara Levy did a tap on Tue and Nancy Reinhardt's solo was "Romance." Ann Shaffer and Mary Frances Frankenhof did a tap duet to "Swanee River"; and Mary Ann Bosman's solo was "Sleeping Beauty Waltz."

An Irish jig by Susan Shaffer was followed by the climax "Scene de Ballet" with Carol Leitner, Barbara Levy, Mary Frances Frankenhof, Shelby Carter, Colleen Campbell, Joan Harl, Nancy Reinhardt and Ann Shaffer taking part.

Pale Hose Move To Within Single Game Of Top Position

Chicago, (AP)—The second-spot Chicago White Sox snapped back after three straight losses with a 9-5 win over the seventh-place Philadelphia Athletics yesterday as big outfielder Don Lenhardt smashed across four runs on a homer and two boppers.

Manager Paul Richards, harassed by five defeats in the last six games, gave his Pale Hose lineup a shake-up with pleasing results. The White Sox hammered 15 hits and hung the defeat on little Bobby Shantz, his seventh against eight wins.

The winner was Luis Aloma, second of three White Sox hurlers, who brilliantly rescued Starter Joe Dobson in the fourth with Philadelphia ahead, 3-2, and the first two batters on base after singles.

Aloma moved down the next three batters in the fourth and until he retired in favor of Harry Doherty after the seventh—apparently to rest up for fireman work against the invading New York Yankees tonight—allowed only two runs and four hits during a four-inning stint.

Minnie Minoso, shifted from the outfield to third base as Bobby Dillinger was given a rest, powered a 425-foot homer into the center-field bull pen in the opening frame for a 1-0 White Sox lead.

The A's uncorked a three-run flurry in the third launched by Lou Klein's fifth homer into the left field stands.

The White Sox chased Shantz in the fourth with four hits including run-scoring singles by Aloma and Busby. Johnny Kucab replaced Shantz after Busby's hit, but fared no better than Shantz.

In the fifth, Lenhardt poked his eighth homer of the season—fifth against the Athletics—following a single by Eddie Robinson.

Braves Triumph Over Cubs, 9-4

Boston, (AP)—The Boston Braves came up with three home runs and as many two-baggers while overpowering the Chicago Cubs for a 9-4 victory yesterday in the "rubber" of their three game series.

Jim Wilson, who had been sidelined with an ailing right arm, made his first start for the Braves since May 20 and was credited with his second win against one loss. After the game was delayed 48 minutes by an eighth inning shower, Wilson was replaced by ex-cub Bob Chipman.

Sam Jethroe, Earl Torgerson and Sid Gordon, the latter back in action after battling a virus infection for a week, made Wilson's chore an easy one by homering.

Simmons To Pitch

Camp Atterbury, Ind. (AP)—Former big leaguer Curt Simmons will pitch for the All-Star baseball team of Pennsylvania's 28th Infantry Division in an exhibition game with the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association July 23.

Corporal Simmons, former mound ace of the Philadelphia Phillies, boasts an unbeaten record in games this year. His latest victory was a two-hit shut-out job over the Washington Senators of the American League.

Eastburg High Names Two Coaches

Pocono A. C. Host To East Bangor Leaders To Clash At Giffels Field

Pocono A. C. and East Bangor tangle at Gordon Giffels field in a twilight contest tonight that bids to be one of the most important games played in the Blue Mountain League this season, as the host team will be attempting to pull back into a tie for the number one position in the standings. The contest is scheduled to get underway at 6:15.

East Bangor at the present time holds a full game advantage over Pocono A. C., as the two clubs turn into the second half of the 1951 campaign. This contest was originally listed for earlier in the season, but was postponed at that time because of rain.

Manager John Schoonover was undecided about his pitching selection last night, but indicated that the final choice was between Chet Lucki or himself, a pair of veteran right handers. A victory for the A. C. contingent will pull it into a first place tie, while a setback would lower the Schoonovermen into a deadlock for the number three position.

John Drew will handle the catching duties once again for Pocono A. C., with Danny Eppley on first base, Dewey Martling, second base; Jim Werkheiser, shortstop; Tom "Lem" Bonser, third base; Doug Schoonover, left field; Alden "Red" Fetherman, center field, and Bob Schick in right.

Jim Dietz, one of the better Blue Mountain League hurlers, will undoubtedly receive the starting assignment for East Bangor in tonight's contest. The same two foes clash at East Bangor on Sunday.

The second contest on tonight's agenda sends West Bangor against Stockertown, on the latter's home field, at 6:15.

Giosa Draws Suspension

New Orleans, (AP)—Tom Littleton, chairman of the Louisiana State Boxing commission, announced that welterweight Eddie Giosa, of Philadelphia, was fined $1,000 yesterday and suspended six months for a poor showing in a bout here last Monday.

Giosa was knocked out in the second round of a scheduled ten-rounder against Bernard Ducouci of New Orleans.

Charles Completes Training Grind For Ninth Defense Of Heavyweight Title Against Walcott

Ligonier, Pa. (AP)—Heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles, sharp and fast at 183 pounds, finished work yesterday for his ninth title defense against Jersey Joe Walcott of Camden, N. J., tomorrow night at Pittsburgh's Forbes Field.

Expecting an all-out "shoot the works" try by 37-year-old Jersey Joe on his fifth shot at the big prize, Charles is ready for anything.

The mustachioed champ from Cincinnati boxed three rounds with Dale Hall and Lloyd Gibson in his final drill at the Ligonier High school gym, nestled in the shadows of the laurel mountain range.

While Charles methodically went about his work for "just another fight," Manager Jake Mintz frothed "I look for it to be more sensational than the Detroit fight." He referred to the March 7 Walcott-Charles bout, second of the series both won by Ezzard.

"I expect this fellow to go all out on his last stand," said Mintz. But Jake didn't make any promises about this being Walcott's last chance. Already Jersey Joe has fought for the title more times than any champions.

Mintz commented: "I look for Walcott to shoot the works quick. He remembers how good he did in the fifteenth round at Detroit and figures he should have started earlier."

Charles boxed 84 rounds in this quiet suburban town where Pittsburgh's wealthy come to play polo or race their trotters.

After a walk and loosening up exercises in a gym yesterday, Charles will drive to Pittsburgh to await the fight weigh in tomorrow noon.

Sensational

While Charles methodically went about his work for "just another fight," Manager Jake Mintz frothed "I look for it to be more sensational than the Detroit fight." He referred to the March 7 Walcott-Charles bout, second of the series both won by Ezzard.

"I expect this fellow to go all out on his last stand," said Mintz. But Jake didn't make any promises about this being Walcott's last chance. Already Jersey Joe has fought for the title more times than any champions.

Mintz commented: "I look for Walcott to shoot the works quick. He remembers how good he did in the fifteenth round at Detroit and figures he should have started earlier."

Charles boxed 84 rounds in this quiet suburban town where Pittsburgh's wealthy come to play polo or race their trotters.

After a walk and loosening up exercises in a gym yesterday, Charles will drive to Pittsburgh to await the fight weigh in tomorrow noon.

Lake Harmony Takes Measure Of Reeders

Reeders—One run in the seventh inning enabled Lake Harmony to win the first game of a doubleheader here against Reeders on Sunday, by a 3-2 count, while both the Pocono Mountain League teams fought to a 5-5 stalemate in the ten-inning nightcap, which was called at the end of the first over-time session.

Scoring

The home team had piled up a 4-1 advantage at the end of five innings of the nightcap, before Lake Harmony tallied three times in the sixth and one in the seventh, after Reeders had pushed a singleton across the plate in the top of the same frame.

First game action also found Lake Harmony trailing 1-0 at the end of the second round, but the visiting team came from behind once again to bring home the bacon.

Eagles Trip Playground Foe In Inter-Borough Loop Tilt

A big five-run first inning gave the Eagles a good start toward a 16-13 victory over the Playground in a closely played twilight Inter-Borough league game at Gordon Giffels field last night. Each team scored three hurriers.

Jim Driebe opened on the hill for the winning aggregation, but in turn gave away to Byron "Bydie" Miller and Roy Hochrine, with Hochrine gaining credit for the victory.

Rivals

"Wally" Adelman started on the mound for the Playground, but was followed by two more right handers in Jim Weiss and "Ducky" Smith. Smith was charged with the loss.

Miller tripled for the Eagles' big blow, while Smith had a similar hit for the Playground team.

The next game will be played on the same field on Wednesday, at 6:15 p. m., when the Central Labor Union and Nauman Sporting Goods teams come to blows.

Protest Aired At Circuit Meeting

Bartonsville—A protest lodged by Tobbysburg against Kunklestown was thoroughly discussed at last night's regular monthly meeting of the Pocono Mountain League, here at the Bartonsville Hotel. The protest was lodged following Kunklestown's victory on Sunday, as Tobbysburg maintains that Asher Smith, the pitcher, used an illegal piece of adhesive tape on his pitching hand.

The protest will now be brought before the league commissioner and board of review for final action.

Browns Run Wild Over Bosox, 9-5

St. Louis (AP)—The St. Louis Browns broke loose with a seven-run barrage in the fifth inning yesterday to stun the Boston Red Sox 9 to 5. It cut Boston's American League lead to one game.

Al Widmar went all the way for the Browns, gaining his first victory since May 25 and his fourth of the year. Ellis Kinder, who was starting for the second time this season, drew his first loss against five victories.

St. Louis was trailing 5-2 when Ken Wood opened the fifth with a double. Vern Stephens threw wild on Fred Marsh's grounder and Wood scored, Marsh taking third. Widmar helped his cause with a single, scoring Marsh. After Bobby Young filed out, Jim Deling singled and Sherman Lollar walked filling the sacks. That was for Kinder but reliever Bill Wright didn't do much better.

Westrum's Blow Wins For Giants

New York (AP)—Wes Westrum's second home run of the game coming with two out in the eighth inning and nobody on base, gave the New York Giants a 7-6 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday.

In the top half of the inning, the Pirates had driven Larry Jansen to cover with four straight hits to tie the score with two runs.

Winner

It took George Spencer to retire the side, Spencer, finishing up, received credit for his fifth win.

There were six home runs in the game. Besides Westrum's pair, Eddie Stanky and Alvin Dark connected for the Giants. Joe Garagiola and Bill Howerton contributed round-trippers for the Pirates.

Basketball, Football Mentors Listed

Jack Kist, athletic director and head football and baseball mentor at East Stroudsburg High school, yesterday announced the appointment of two new coaches to the staff, rounding out the coaching department for the 1951-52 school year.

Richard Forster, 29-year-old graduate of Panzer State Teachers College, has been named head basketball mentor and will also assist during the football campaign.

Delbert Davis, 31-year-old resident of Delaware Water Gap, has been named as an assistant football coach, a replacement for Fred Hershey, both on the football field and in the class room. Hershey was recently recalled to active duty with the army.

Forster, an air corps veteran of World War II, formerly taught in the Newark, N. J. school system and assisted with football at Panzer while teaching in high school.

Two Sports

The new head coach mentor played both basketball and football while attending Panzer.

Davis, who was injured in World War II, graduated from Mansfield State Teachers College, but attended the first two years at Fordham. Davis played football at both schools.

The new assistant football mentor received his Master's degree in Education from Columbia.

Before moving into this area Davis coached at Dumont, N. J. High school and also played football with the New London, Conn. Football Club. Davis was also a member of the New York Yankee baseball chain at one time.

The need for a basketball coach occurred last winter when Kist resigned as cage mentor, but kept his football and baseball duties intact.

Brown's Hit Wins For Phils

Philadelphia, (AP)—Tommy Brown's triple off Gerald Staley with the bases loaded, two out and the Philadelphia Phillies trailing 2 to 0 in the last of the eighth inning gave the defending National league champions a 5 to 2 win over the St. Louis Cardinals last night.

Rally

Staley was pitching shutout ball until the fatal eighth. He walked both Andy Seminick and Pinch Hitter Dick Slater to open the inning. Eddie Walikus then beat out a bunt along the third base line. Staley looked as if he was going to work out of it when Richie Ashburn and Willie Jones both popped up. But Brown, recent Philadelphia acquisition from Brooklyn, smashed his three bagger along the third base line.

Jack Crimiat, came in to replace Staley and was greeted by a Del Ennis triple scoring Brown. Granny Hamner beat out a squeeze bunt admitting Ennis.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College received another severe jolt in its athletic department recently, when it was learned that Harold "Cork" Egli, outstanding center on the football machine, would be among the missing when the 1951 grid campaign rolls into view. Egli, who received Little All-State mention last year, has been accepted at Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., where he will study Physio-Therapy for the next year. The popular Egli is then expected to return to ESSTC and finish his education.

Harold developed into one of the best centers in the history of Normal Hill grid machines last season, both on the offense and defense. Jim Law, former Scranton University football and baseball star, has been named to succeed Portland's Sid Effross as coach at Blairtown High. Effross was recently named supervising principal. Jay Archer, a graduate of ESSTC and founder of "Biddy Baseball" had his newly nationalized sport on television yesterday.

The Scranton University basketball coaching position is still open. Do I hear a local ring? Bill Kunkle, youthful shortstop who made such an outstanding impression at the baseball school conducted by the Phillies at Gordon Giffels field recently, was named to the Tri-County League American Legion all-stars for the second straight year. Charley Stroup, Lehighon three-letter man, held down a first base post on the same club. Ray Welsh, Stroudsburg resident and scout for the Pittsburgh Pirates, was only one of the many ivory hunters on hand for the game.

Stroudsburg's Veterans of Foreign Wars bowling team placed fifteenth in the state-wide bowling tournament held early this spring at Luzerne's St. Joseph's alleys. The Vets were one of approximately 1,500 teams taking part in the matches. The Stroudsburg club was composed of Bill Lessig, Floyd Berger, "Abe" Rustine, Ralph "Pete" Arnold and Bill Rusk. Bowling even crops up in the summer months.

The announcement of the appointment of two new coaches for the East Stroudsburg High athletic department settles a task that has been on hand for a good many months. However, according to the latest reports reaching this column it appears as if the Eastburg grid machine will do its training at Memorial Stadium this year. Lack of funds seen destined to keep the club away from the training camp on Pocono Plateau which the Cavaliers used during the past two pre-season training grids.

Tony Sabatine, a follower of Roseto's entry in the Blue Mountain League, reminds this writer that Dick Pritchard is almost as good a pitcher as he is a shortstop. The little right hander has won four games, including a one-hitter against West Bangor earlier in the campaign. The East Stroudsburg Little League is hopeful of obtaining a sizeable income from Saturday's Tag Day program. All proceeds will be used to finish construction of the regulation Little League field, near Memorial Stadium.

Mike Renaldo may miss the Blue Mountain league playoffs this year, as the Roseto A. A. first sacker is scheduled to report to Fordham in mid-August, for pre-season football practice with the Rams. Dominic "Ziggy" DeFranco, baseball and football star at Bangor High in recent years, is now studying at the University of Cincinnati and learning his football from Head Coach Sid Gillman, who lectured at the Eastern Pennsylvania Scholastic Coaches association clinic at ESSTC in June of 1950. DeFranco also played briefly with Roseto, Blue Mountain league, before departing for Cincinnati.

Eddie Snyder, one-time member of the Stroudsburg Pocono, will be holding down third base for East Bangor tonight, when the league leaders invade Gordon Giffels field. Snyder was a jack-of-all-trades with the Poconos during the first half of the 1950 campaign. Eddie, who coaches basketball at Wilson Borough High, opened the present season with Easton.

National Bank Triumphs Over Methodists In Little League

National Bank won a free scoring game from the Methodists in an East Stroudsburg Little League game played at the East Stroudsburg Baseball last night, by a 12-10 score.

Both sides used three pitchers, but the National Bank scored in five of the six frames, while the Methodists tallied in only four frames, with the former scoring more often.

Eagles Defeat IAM, 8-7

One run in the seventh frame enabled the Eagles to open the second half flag race in the Monroe County Softball league last night, while Line Material and Patterson-Kelley meet at the Eastburg playground. Both games begin at 6:15.

Dodgers Slug Reds Behind Erskine, 11-2

Brooklyn, (AP) — Carl Erskine hurled a perfect game for seven innings yesterday to pace the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers to an 11-2 victory over the high-riding Cincinnati Reds.

The two-hitter unfurled by Erskine, first complete game by a Dodger pitcher since July 7, enabled the Brooks to snap a four-game losing streak and broke a seven-game Cincinnati winning skid.

The Dodgers backed up the fine pitching with a 16-hit assault, including homers by "Duke" Snider and "Pee-Wee" Reese and four singles by Carl Furillo.

Steady Hurling

Erskine, 24-year-old curveballer, set the Reds down in one-two-three order for seven innings. The paid crowd of 6,371, envisioning a no-hitter, sat quietly when brawny Ted Kluszewski stepped up to open the eighth for Cincinnati.

The husky Redlegger bashed a hard grounder through the middle for a single and Erskine's no-litter was gone. Slightly unnerved by the hit, Erskine then walked Grady Hatton. The little hurler hitched up his belt pitched carefully to Joe Adcock and got him to hit into a double play.

Virgil Stallcup then spoiled Erskine's bid for a shut-out by walloping the ball into the left field stands for a two-run homer. Cincinnati — 000 000 600—2 2 1 Brooklyn — 100 400 600—11 16 0

Indians Scalp Senators, 8-2

Cleveland (AP) — Steve Gromek pitched his first complete game of the season for Cleveland yesterday, beating the Washington Nats, 8-2, with the help of two homers by Luke Easter and one by Al Rosen. Gromek gave up seven hits while the Tribe jumped on Julio Moreno and Tom Ferriek for 14.

Runs

Easter's fourteenth four-base blow scored Gromek and Mitchell in the sixth. Both had singled.

His thirteenth homer drove in Dale Mitchell who doubled in the first.

Rosen got his fourteenth in the fifth, after Easter had singled.

"Golf Week" Opens At Shawnee Today With Pro-Ladies Tournament Featuring Early Play

Shawnee-On-Delaware — The pro-ladies championship tournament will open Shawnee's annual "Golf Week" here today with professional and amateur players from all sections of the country gathered here for the annual week-long schedule of events.

A number of Pennsylvania P. G. A. members as well as visiting pros from other sections of the country will team up with the women for today's championship event.

Field

Frank Minch, Sacramento, Calif.; Milt Ross, Mare Island, Calif.; Officers' Club; John Bove, Mid-Pines, North Carolina; Dick

Barley, Alameda, Calif.; and Jack Ryan, Ponce de Leon club, St. Augustine, Fla., will be in the ranks of the pros along with Ted Bickel Sr., Springhaven, national vice-president PGA; M. A. T. Lyons, Llanerch, former national secretary PGA; Al MacDonald, Langhorne, president Philadelphia District; Al Keeping, Gulph Mills; Henry Poe, Reading; Walter Brickley, Spring Mills, N. J.; Horace Smith, Moorestown, N. J. and Harry Obitz, Shawnee.

Tomorrow the pros will compete in the mixed foursome championship while the remainder of the week will be devoted to the annual Shawnee vs. Delaware team matches.

Male and female golfers from many sections of the nation make an annual pilgrimage to Shawnee to participate in the Shawnee-Delaware team events. The women's matches will be played Thursday and the men's matches will be played Friday. Saturday the men will play in the qualifying round in the best ball of partners against par while the final rounds will be played Sunday.

Tomorrow night as an interlude in the golf activities there will be swimming and diving exhibitions by national champions in the Shawnee pool.

Birmingham, New Orleans To Clash At Bangor

Bangor—Two teams from the deep south, the Birmingham Black Barons and the New Orleans Eagles, will bring their Negro American Baseball league rivalry here to Memorial stadium next Tuesday night, July 24, at 8:15.

This attraction, third of a series presented by the Bangor A. A. Light committee, marks the initial appearance of either team in this area but the show, particularly since Birmingham is the defending champion of the colored circuit, promises to be interesting to all craving to see the best in the barnstorming game.

The Black Barons, in fact, are old standbys in the loop and have cultivated many players who have graduated in the organized white game. One of their most recent products is Willie Mays, 20-year-old centerfielder for the New York Giants.

Newcomer

New Orleans is a newcomer to the split loop, which also is comprised of the Kansas City Monarchs, Indianapolis Clowns, Nashville Elite Giants, Philadelphia Stars, Memphis Red Sox and the Chicago American Giants. With the exception of Kansas City and Memphis, all of these teams have appeared on the Bangor diamond in the past.

Fans who witnessed an amazing slugfest late last month when the Stars and Nashville tangled here and then were treated to a brilliant display of defensive ball during the engagement of Philadelphia and Indianapolis a fortnight ago may look for most anything this time.

Arrangements for this league match were made possible by the fact that both clubs are following an itinerary which brings them along the eastern seaboard at the same time.

Arrangements Completed For Parents Day

Parents day at the Stroudsburg playground pool will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m.

There will be corsages for the mothers and a special prize awarded to the person who holds the lucky number. A number will be given to each person as he enters the playground.

Benches will be set up at the pool for the convenience of the visitors as they watch the special program which has been arranged by the parents day committee.

Pool life guards and playground directors will furnish the entertainment which will include swimming and diving exhibitions and a special life-saving demonstration.

It has been announced that a swimming meet with Eddieside Beach, Easton, has been scheduled. All boys between the ages of 12 to 18 interested in trying out for the team should report to the pool every day from 6 to 8 p. m.

Cub Scout Day Marked At Camp

The Camp Weygadt Boy Scout reservation held its annual "Cub Scout day" Sunday with 600 children and adults in attendance.

Cubs from 16 packs, representing five districts of the Delaware Valley Area Boy Scout Council, took part in the program entitled "County Fair", which included games, athletic and guessing contests, swimming, and other activities.

CIO Backs President's Plea For Huge Increase In Taxes

Washington, (AP)—The CIO lined up yesterday behind President Truman's plea for an unprecedented ten billion dollar tax increase to pay-as-you-go for defense.

The labor organization told senators half of the boost—$5,000,000,000—should come from corporations. A House-passed tax bill taps corporations for $2,855,000,000.

The CIO supported a provision in the House bill for a 12½ per cent hike in individual income taxes all along the line to raise about $2,500,000,000.

But it urged the Senate to kill a $1,252,000,000 increase voted by the House in taxes on liquor, gasoline, automobiles, appliances and other items.

Altogether, the House bill would raise about $7,200,000,000. There's been more talk in the Senate of

Escapee Is Taken Here

A man identified by police as Jerry Levine when they charged him with disorderly conduct has been turned over to authorities of Byberry hospital, Philadelphia.

Committed to Monroe county jail for disorderly conduct, Levine was later identified as an escapee from Byberry when teletype messages regarding his escape arrived here.

Levine was committed to Monroe county jail around 12:30 a. m. Saturday. He was later released to Leslie B. Richards, official of Byberry, who came here with three other members of the hospital staff.

Lewis Delves Into Mythology

Washington, (AP)—John L. Lewis said Sunday night that if President Truman and Senator Taft (R-Ohio) are opposing candidates in the next election it will be like choosing "between Scylla and Charybdis."

The reference was to the dilemma in Greek mythology where a choice had to be made between a monster and a deadly whirlpool. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers union, refused to say whether he thought Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would make a good candidate but praised Gen. Douglas MacArthur as "one of the greatest of our contemporary Americans."

Lewis said he would have to wait and see if Eisenhower would be a presidential candidate, on what ticket he might run and what he stood for.

Lancaster Cattle

Lancaster, (AP)—Cattle 2175, heifers with quality $32 to $34, fair to good $29 to $31. Calves 625, liberal supply and market unchanged. Hogs 100, supply ample for the trade and prices unchanged. Sheep 350 market steady.

Treasury Position

Washington, (AP)—The position of the Treasury July 21. Net budget receipts $137,403,452.13. Budget expenditures $235,310,969.98. Cash balance $6,084,327,236.29. Total debt $254,932,929,288.10. Increase over previous day $226,458,066.56.
